INTRODUCTION

Donyi Polo Cultural and Charitable Trust, based in Arunachal Pradesh, is dedicated to enhancing the lives of indigenous communities in the region. Our mission focuses on preserving and promoting the rich cultural heritage of these communities. Through our unique Gurukul-styled indigenous schools across the state, we provide free education to students from diverse backgrounds. Our vision is to ensure the seamless transmission of cultural values from one generation to the next, fostering both academic growth and a strong connection to cultural roots.

Additionally, as part of our ongoing commitment to indigenous communities, we regularly organize free health camps to provide essential medical services. Supported by RITES Limited, we recently conducted free health camps at various venues including Nyedar Namlo of Doimukh, Government Secondary School of Kokila, Garung village of Balijan, Chakma village, Buddhist Temple, Block No. 9, and Techiko building of Tenga Baari in the Papum Pare district of Arunachal Pradesh. These camps aimed to address the healthcare needs of local residents, providing vital medical services to those in need. Below is a brief report on each of the health camps conducted.

1. Nyedar Namlo of Doimukh, Papum Pare district of Arunachal Pradesh

24/03/2024

The health camp held on March 24th, 2024, at Nyedar Namlo in Doimukh, Papum Pare district, Arunachal Pradesh, was organized by the Donyi Polo Cultural and Charitable Trust in partnership with DB Healthcare and Diagnostic Centre & Homespital, under the CSR initiative of RITES Limited. The event provided essential healthcare services to 93 individuals, addressing various health issues such as colds, sore throats, body aches and coughs.

5. Techī Kako building, Tenga Bari, Balijan, Papum Pare district of Arunachal Pradesh

31/03/2024

On the 31st of March, 2024, the Donyi Polo Cultural and Charitable Trust successfully concluded its series of health camps with the final camp hosted at the Techī Kako building, located in Tenga Bari, within the Balijan circle of the Papum Pare district, Arunachal Pradesh. This concluding session was part of a comprehensive initiative supported by RITES Limited and was conducted in collaboration with DB Healthcare and Diagnostic Centre & Homespital, aiming to deliver critical medical services at no cost to the community.

Tenga Bari, positioned in a remote vicinity that shares its borders with the state of Assam, serves as a crucial location for such health camps due to its accessibility for both the residents of Arunachal Pradesh and those from the neighbouring border areas of Assam. The camp witnessed remarkable participation, registering a total of 104 patients from varied age groups on the day of the event.

Donyi Polo Cultural and Charitable Trust extends its heartfelt gratitude to RITES Limited for their invaluable support in organizing a series of free health camps across various remote areas of Arunachal Pradesh. It is through their unwavering support that DPCCT has successfully executed all the health camps, spanning from Phase one to Phase two, culminating in the completion of this significant event.

The collaborative efforts between Donyi Polo Cultural and Charitable Trust and RITES Limited have not only made a profound impact on the indigenous communities residing in the remote regions of Arunachal Pradesh but have also significantly benefited the medical associations that partnered with the Trust to provide medical assistance to the tribal communities of the state.

We sincerely appreciate the initiative and steadfast support extended by RITES Limited and eagerly anticipate further inspiring initiatives in the future.
